

Green Policy

A Green Policy defines the approach a company takes to improve the environment and provides a framework for the development of green practices.

Examples of some of the areas that may be covered in a Green Policy would be:

A declaration of the company's commitment to the environment by preventing pollution and improving environmental performance, a commitment to providing safe workplaces, reducing the company's carbon footprint by reducing energy use (electricity, fuel, water), reducing waste in day to day operations, re-use and recycling of resources, creating awareness amongst the employees on the green initiatives of the company etc.

Some of the benefits of a Green Policy are a healthier & safer workplace, an enhanced image in the community, existing and potential customers, an improved financial bottom line etc.
